

ALLIES CAPTURE 10 NEW TOWNS IN ITALY

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

WHAT JUSTIFICATION, if any, is there for the various European reports that Germany is on the point of cracking up?

For instance, a dispatch from Scotland reports that British soldiers who have just returned from Nazi prison camps say German hope and morale are cracking under the strain of the steadily increasing British and American air attacks on key cities.

London tells us that the statements leaking out of Germany through neutral countries describe last week as the blackest of the war for Hitler, and hint at a critical situation on the home-front.

Nazi commentators have made no bones recently of expressing grave concern over the trend of the fighting on the Russian front.

Dr. Jenny, widely known Swiss newspaperman, writes that "in wide circles it is considered possible that Germany will break within a few weeks."

Ivan Yermashov, Soviet commentator, wrote the other day in the Red Star, organ of the Russian army, that a decisive blow through France by the western allies would bring about swift defeat of Germany and a quick end to the war.

Our Brigadier General Curtis E. Lemay, commander of the United States heavy bomber division in England, says that German war industry will be so smashed by the bombing that the Nazis won't be able to fight effectively any longer on land or sea or in the air. Of course, spring isn't at hand, but it isn't so far off, at that.

Well, the answer to all this is that Germany's immediate fate is to be delicately balanced that a great stroke of adversity might bring sudden collapse.

As General Sir Bernard Montgomery says in a message to his army, "I ever anything is certain in this life it is now clear that we shall win this war." When that stage of dead certainty is reached in a conflict, then anything can happen. It might be a military disaster, or it might be the sudden cracking of morale on the home front, such as Germany experienced in the last war.

THERE'S NO HARM in hoping hard that there will be such a collapse, and we're not crazy to think about it. However, it would be criminal for us to fool ourselves into believing that our wishes are actualities—that Germany is bound to collapse in the near future.

What right have we, for instance, to assume that the morale of the Turn to WAR TODAY, Page 8.

SALEM CHEST DRIVE $2,424 OVER THE TOP

Pledges Totalling $43,084 Are Reported at Closing Campaign Meeting

With total pledges of $43,084.04, Salem's Community War Chest drive went sailing over the goal of $40,660 as captains of ten teams submitted their reports at the closing meeting last night in the Memorial building.

As the city exceeded its goal by $2,424.04, a few captains announced their reports were quite complete and so the total raised is expected to be increased lightly within the next day or two.

When Campaign Chairman T. E. Miller called for reports, he also received those from the territory surrounding the city. Lowell Whinnery, chairman of the campaign in Winona and the southern half of Butler township, reported $764.85; Galen Greenstein, Perry township chairman, $353.61; Mayor Lloyd Collier, Washingtonville, $130.

These three reports are not final, the chairman announced. Also to be heard from is C. G. Long, chairman for Damascus and the northern part of Butler township.

Big Fund From Shops

Employees in the factories contributed $10,400 and the general committee reported pledges totalling $22,349.50 from the special gifts list.

In the school report, Supt. E. S. Kerr reported the children had donated about $400 of the $813 raised.

Chairman Miller said he was very proud of Salem for its generous response and he commended the captains and team workers for their splendid efforts during the campaign.

Floyd W. McKee, assistant chairman, who will be in charge of the 1944 campaign, asked the workers to submit any suggestions that might be of value at that time.

Team reports submitted last night follow:

No. 1, Airey B'omberg captain, $518.50; No. 2, (Quota club), Irene McKee captain, $2,002.50; No. 3, R. R. Miller captain, $2,271.75; No. 4, (schools), E. S. Kerr captain, $813.54; No. 5, (shop), C. D. Gow captain, $10,400; No. 6, Charles McKee captain, $1,854; No. 7, O. C. Hoover captain, $588; No. 8, Harold Smith captain, $1,046.50; No. 9, (block workers), Mrs. L. P. Metzger captain, $1,046.50.

HULL AND STALIN MEET IN MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Oct. 25.—The three power conference moved into its eighth session today, following a lengthy meeting last night of the diplomatic technicians who are framing the decisions arrived at by U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov.

The job of the experts was said to be exceedingly difficult. They must "weigh the value of words" which have passed between the three statesmen, it was explained, determine the meaning of any agreements they have reached and then commit the decisions to cold type.

The Hull-Eden-Molotov talks were reported to be going along splendidly with all parties pleased with the progress. Yesterday's session followed a meeting between Hull and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin, details of which were not disclosed.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 26.—Mervyn L. Clendening of Wellsville, Democrat, was elected chairman of the Columbiana county board of elections yesterday succeeding Atty. W. O. Wallace, Columbiana village attorney, who died Oct. 12.

Michael K. Duty of Unity township, former Democratic sheriff, qualified as a member of the board for Wallace's unexpired term, ending Feb. 29, 1944.

Board members indicated a late November date would be set for a special local option election in the Second ward of the city of Wellsville.

The identification was made at the morgue by the woman's rooming house landlady, who said the victim came here in August as a secretary for Recreation Services, Inc., devoted to hospitality work among service men.

She was found lying on a sidewalk about 7:30 o'clock last night.

F.D.R. ANSWERS DRAFT CRITICS

Declares Only 3.2 Percent of Government Employees Are Deferred

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Answering what he termed "mud-slingers" who have been calling the government a haven for draft dodgers and slackers, President Roosevelt said today that only 3.2 percent of the nearly 3,000,000 full-time civilian employees of the government had received occupational deferments.

To Vice President Wallace and Speaker Rayburn, for reading to senate and house, the President sent a 2,700-word letter of rebuttal to what he termed "groundless charges" and "irresponsible rumors."

Many of these charges came from congressmen during arguments over the drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

These "unfair accusations must be emphatically denied," Mr. Roosevelt asserted. Here are some of the figures he used to back up his denial.

"This Is Army" Premiere To Benefit Army Relief Fund

The Salem premiere of Irving Berlin's film, "This Is Army", at the State theater Thursday night, will be a benefit for the Army Emergency Relief fund and the Salem Community War Chest.

This reserved-seat performance, with one show only, starting at 8 p. m., has been made possible largely by the purchase of blocks of tickets by Salem manufacturers, who expect to pass them out to employees. Ninety per cent of the seating capacity already has been sold for the first night.

Entire receipts of the Thursday night show will go to the two funds, 70 per cent to the Army relief and 30 per cent to the Community Chest.

Regular admission prices will prevail for the four following nights, Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, when the State theater management will donate all receipts above actual expenses to the Army relief fund.

Companies that purchased the blocks of tickets are: Mullins, Salem Engineering Co., Electric Furnace Co., C. B. Hunt & Son, National Sanitary Co., Salem China Co., Andalusia Dairy Co., Gonda Engineering Co., Salem Tool Co., Deming Co., Quaker City foundry, Lincoln Machine Co., Paxson Machine Co., Silver Mfg. Co., and Ohio Edison Co.

"This Is Army", a technicolor musical picture including the all-star cast that toured the road version, was produced on a non-profit basis by Warner Bros. studio. Profits go to the Army Emergency Relief fund which cooperates with the Red Cross in giving aid to distressed families of servicemen.

As a stage show, it earned $1,951,045 for the fund on its tour. Featuring 3,000 soldiers, Composer Berlin, Kate Smith, Joan Leslie and Ronald Reagan, the film is expected to enrich the Army relief by $20,000,000.

4 FARM MEETINGS BOOKED IN COUNTY

LISBON, Oct. 26.—Arrangements have been made for four farm institutes in Columbiana county, according to Assistant County Agent John Strausbaugh. Two other institutes have been cancelled and two others are yet undecided.

Institutes now scheduled and dates opening at Winona on Dec. 8, are as follows: Homeworth, Dec. 8 and 9; Hanoverton, Dec. 9-10, and Clarkson, Dec. 10-11.

West township, Fairfield and Salem Farmers' institutes were cancelled last year, and Calcutta has signified the institute there will not be held this year due to wartime difficulties. Although Fairfield and Salem townships indicated possibilities of holding institutes this year, no arrangements have been made yet, Strausbaugh said.

Good programs are assured for the institutes already arranged with two state speakers, Mrs. W. S. Ferguson of Lexington, and John Grierson of Hillsboro, Highland county, scheduled.

FATHER DRAFT BEFORE HOUSE

Representatives Finally Get Fling At Deferment Legislation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The house refused today to write into new draft legislation a distinction between fathers over 30 and those 30 or under.

On a standing vote of 45 to 27 it defeated an amendment by Rep. O'Hara (R., Minn.) to require the induction of fathers 30 or under before older parents are called.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The house got its long-awaited fling at father-draft deferment legislation today.

Indications were it would, by nightfall, pass a bill to put husbands and fathers at the bottom of the induction list and strengthen the authority of Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey in administration of the Selective Service law.

Up for action was a re-written version of the measure on this subject which the senate passed several weeks ago when the upper chamber rejected proposals for an outright ban on general father-drafting.

Opening debate on the house version, Chairman May (D., Ky.) of the military committee which did the revamping, asserted the legislation was necessary "to preserve the homes of this nation, which are the foundation of our society and the bulwark of our home front effort."

"All this bill does," he said, "is to see to it that the fathers of this country are not drafted before all the available non-fathers are taken."

Specifically, the bill requires that men be called for induction on a nation-wide basis in this order: Single men without dependents.

FUNERAL THURSDAY FOR MISHAP VICTIM

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Stark Memorial for Carl Ischensmid, 26, of the Georgetown rd., who was fatally injured by a flying rim yesterday noon. Rev. George D. Keiser, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, will conduct the service. Burial will be in East Beach cemetery.

Friends may call at the Memorial Wednesday evening.

Ischensmid, an employee of the Broomall Construction Co., was changing a tire on his truck at the Goodyear service station on W. State st. when the accident occurred. The blowout of the tire he was inflating hurled the rim against his right temple. Salem City hospital attendants reported he was dead upon arrival there.

Surviving are his wife, Audrey; a small son, Carl Gary; a brother, Elmer Ischensmid, and a sister.

He was the son of the late Albert and Margaret Ischensmid, born in Demarcus Dec. 16, 1916.

Germans Fall Back To New Front Lines

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 26.—Allied armies in Italy have captured 10 more towns in advances up to five to six miles, it was announced today, and German opposition on the Fifth army front diminished as the Nazis apparently fell back to new positions.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army seized Raviscanina only 15 miles south of the largest transport city of Isernia, and an Eighth army column striking up from the southeast took Objano, some 15 miles from Isernia on the main road from Campobasso.

The Fifth gained four to five miles in taking Raviscanina, 19 miles north of Capua, and also took the towns of Crancolis, 2½ miles west of captured Sparanise, and Rocchetta.

Four other towns besides Bojano fell to the British, including Baranello, a stronghold between Campobasso and Bojano, Spineto, four miles north of Bojano, Petrella and Palata.

Isernia, a key point in German supply, was being threatened by the Fifth and Eighth armies from the south and southeast. Some German rearwards still offered stubborn resistance.

Franchise was captured in a fresh advance, westward aimed at the main enemy defense positions at Mondragone and Massico. Reiche which towers 2,500 feet. Rocchetta is four miles northeast of Sparanise.

Official information from the front confirmed an earlier forecast that the Germans are preparing a major stand along a line from Mondragone on the west coast north-eastward through Vandro and then across Italy to the area of Vasto on the Adriatic.

It was disclosed that the bridgehead gained by the Eighth army across the Trigno river was near the mouth of that stream, only seven miles below Vasto.

Enemy Shellfire Heavy

Alarmed by the success of the British in that crossing, the Nazis concentrated artillery there and laid down very heavy shell fire on the British front.

Heavy enemy shellfire also met the British farther inland where Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's troops took Bojano in a six-mile advance west from Vinchiaturo.

Between Bojano and the Adriatic, Montgomery's British, Canadian and Indian forces made steady gains and drove the Germans from Spineto, Petrella, 15 miles northeast of Spineto, and Palata, 12 miles northeast of Petrella.

Medium bombers and long-range fighters of the Northwest African air force attacked the airfield at Poydonika in Yugoslavia yesterday, an air communiqué said, while in Italy, medium, light and fighter-bombers hit road and rail targets.

SALEM TO THE FRONT AGAIN

That Salem senses its obligations and rises nobly in response to every appeal, whether it be of a patriotic nature or for community welfare agencies, was demonstrated again when the people of this city over-subscribed the Community War Chest goal of $40,660. It was the largest sum ever sought in a public campaign here, but the community did not fall short of its duty. It never has failed, and it never will.

For years the spirit of community giving has been so well developed that it has become a part of community life in Salem. It is the one thing above all others which cements the altruistic spirit so vital to a progressive and contented community. At least once a year it brings together hundreds of workers with a common purpose, men and women who forget all differences and join eagerly in completing the task in the shortest time possible. And as they go about their task the spirit of the occasion permeates the entire city, and the response is whole-hearted.

Always there are a few who do not accept their obligations fully. But on the whole the gift is generous and the spirit is sincere. Year after year Salem leads the way in the district in this respect. As Campaign Chairman T. E. Miller expressed it at the close of the campaign last night, it makes one proud to live in Salem. Everyone feels better for having given to such worthy causes, and the community benefits in many ways from the united response. As long as this spirit prevails, Salem need have no concern for its future.

SUPPORT FOR SCHOOLS

The mill and a half tax levy for operation of Salem's public schools expires this year and a renewal is being sought at the general election next Tuesday. It is a request for funds which will not cost the taxpayer a cent more than he is paying today. Consequently it should receive unanimous support of the voters.

Payment of teachers' salaries on the present scale is at stake. Most of the money received from this special tax levy goes for that purpose, and who is there who would deny the teachers any part of their present earnings?

For many years it has been necessary to help finance the school system in this manner. From time to time as the levy has expired in the past, its renewal has been amply supported at the election polls. It requires only a majority vote. This time let's make it as nearly a 100 per cent vote as anyone could expect.

THE STATISTICS ON STATISTICS

The statisticians, challenged roughly by labor leaders and politely by the chief executive to defend their numerical conclusions on the cost of living, probably are making their last stand. Things have been going from bad to worse for a long time. The statisticians inadvertently have been proving nothing to anyone's satisfaction lately, except that the statistics on statistics, if a statistical quibbling ever could be found to turn traitor, would show a betting average of 147.

The labor leaders charge—and Mr. Roosevelt seems inclined to agree—that the statistical cost of living bears only remotely on the actual cost of living. No statistic can show variations between communities and different sections of the country, nor can it show what happens as between different families in the same places. Some of them will find it more expensive than the average and others—a fact the labor leaders will not be likely to mention—are able to do astonishing tricks with their living costs in the other direction.

This is a particularly interesting and important point. The fact that the cost of living for one family can be shown to have gone up so many percentage points, which may be more than the increase shown by statistics, proves nothing unless compared with the experience of an identical family whose cost of living has remained the same, or even declined—a phenomenon not unheard of among families whose fixed, or shrinking, incomes and heavier taxes isolated them from temptation to share in the war boom they heard about but never experienced. The cost of living is not absolute, in other words, but relative in large degree to ability to pay it.

BALANCE OF AIR POWER

An important factor in the advance of Red troops, says a Reuters dispatch, is the weakness of the German air force, no longer able to prevent Russian aerial attacks.

If this observation is confirmed, it will establish further the direct connection between Anglo-American bombing raids on German territory and the disintegration of German power on the Russian front.

The bombing attacks have had the effect of putting a premium on production of fighting planes by Germany's aviation industry; production of bombing planes for offense has been sacrificed to fighters for defense.

The fighters are being used in great numbers against Anglo-American raiders. If at the same time they are not present in sufficient numbers on the Russian front to stave off the Russian air force, that can mean only that even fighters no longer are available in sufficient quantities to go around. They have been conspicuously absent, also, on the Italian front.

The balance of air power apparently has been turned to the advantage of all the United Nations by their combined efforts, but most conspicuously by the massing of an air offensive against Germany itself from bases in England.

If here or there there is a cowardly individual who might put a comfortable life above the honor and the future of our people, we are determined in the name of the whole German people to cut off his head—Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, October 28

PARTICULARLY propitious are the promises and prospects for this day, on which there may be a decisive and energetic marshalling of forces for a solidification of the affairs in all directions. There may be an urgent effort at enterprise and initiative; not only in the launching of new projects and programs, but in sweeping away all static and impeding obstructions to future constructive work. Business, finance, literary and artistic skills should be under exceptional impetus for such ambitious purpose. Forge ahead indomitably.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are assured promise of a definite and decisive success in the way of progress on new ambitions and propositions; aimed at a consolidation of the resources and opportunities, making for future comfort, happiness and prosperity. Exceptional initiative and energy should be applied toward this determined goal, and while personal industry, resources and skill should be of signal worth, there may be assistance from a legacy, gift, or other windfall. There may be travel, adventure and romance. The business as well as cultural talents are highly stimulated.

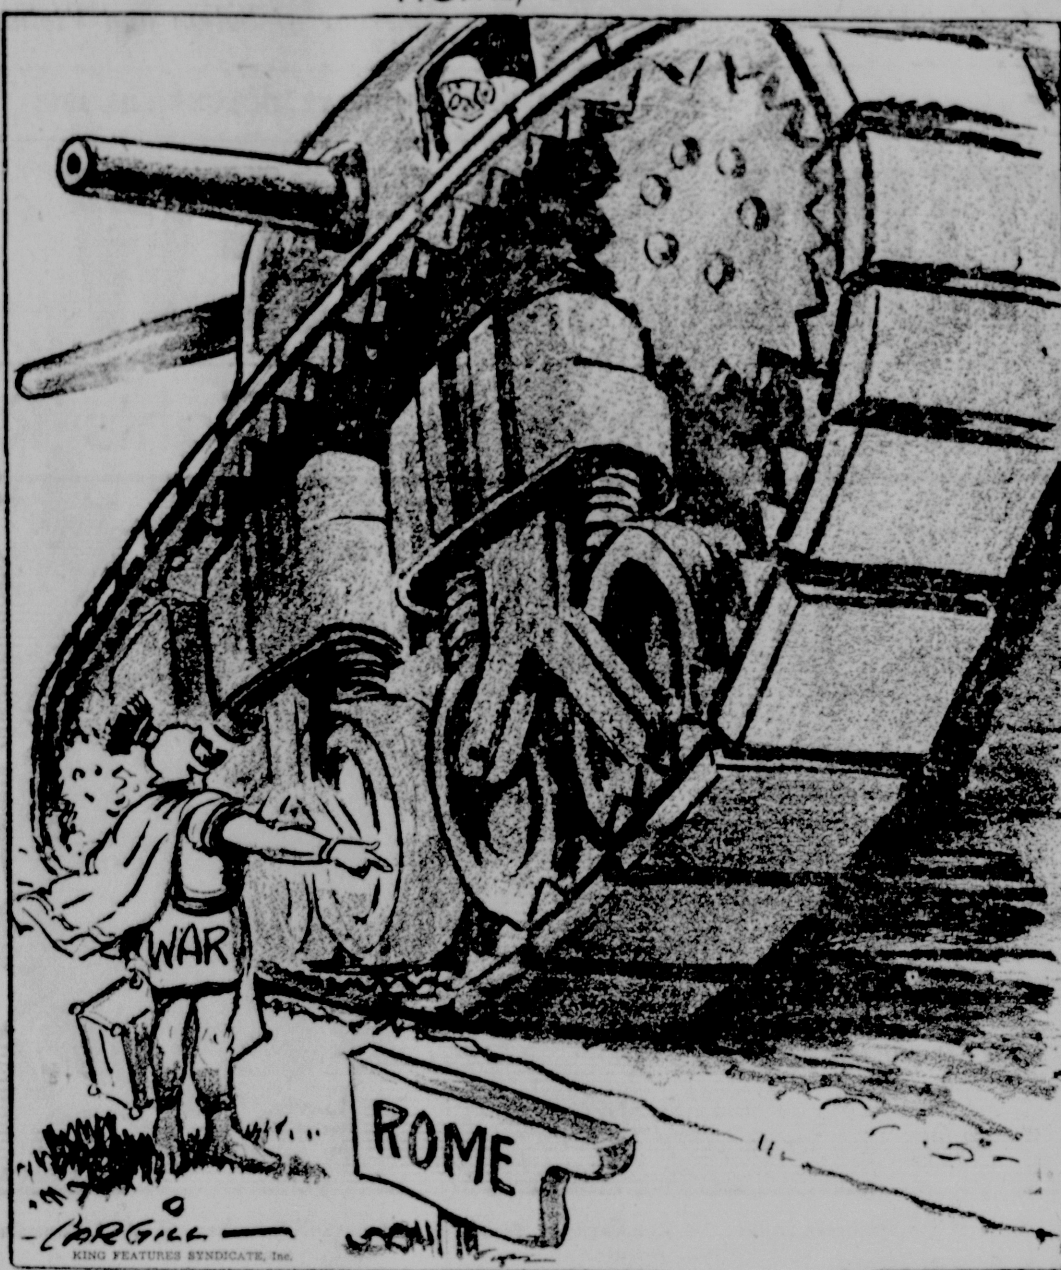

A child born on this day should be so bounteously endowed with multiple talents and skills, in business, professions and arts, that it should attain the goal of heart's desire and enjoy long and stable good fortune.

With the war's end and our powers cease, I feel confident that both labor and management will both decide: "The war labor board system worked pretty well; let's keep something like it." If that isn't the spontaneous reasoning, the first big strike will again rouse the country and there immediately will be legislation setting up arbitration machinery.—NLRB Chairman William H. Davis.

If workers in a plant pool their efforts and ideas and find ways of getting out more stuff per hour, I think wartime conditions may justify establishment of a plant-wide wage incentive plan which will reward and induce constant improvement.—WPB Vice Chairman Joseph D. Keenan.

The Germans understand only force. If we do not assert all our force against them, they will once more interpret our concessions as weakness and will promptly begin to prepare for a third World war.—Prof. Bernadotte E. Schmitt, University of Chicago.

Psycho-somatic Medicine Discussed

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
A NEW branch of medical practice is called "Psycho-somatic Medicine." Psycho means mind and soul and somatic means body. The general idea behind these words is a very old one. The newest and rawest interne in the medical ward soon finds out that it is just as important to know what the patient thinks about his disease as what disease he has. And, as some pundit said long ago, it is just as important to know what kind of a patient the disease has as what kind of a disease the patient has.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

I gather from many letters I get from my medical friends in the armed forces that the problem is even more acute in military practice than in civil life. A soldier in the army can always make a request to see a doctor—it doesn't cost anything and the doctor is near at hand at all times. And a great deal of the time the doctor has a hard time determining whether the psychic part of the soldier or the somatic part is really making the trouble.

Weighting Evidence
Here is a soldier with a pain in the stomach. The doctor can't see anything, and he can't feel anything, and the X-ray doesn't show anything. There is no way on earth to prove that fellow hasn't got a pain, but the evidence is against it. Maybe his pain is just that he would like to get back to Ottumwa, Iowa, again. Well, that's all very natural and reasonable, but we have a war on our hands and we have to win it, and we need men to do it with.

Of course some of the chronic complainers are easy to spot. You can cure them by putting them in the toughest and most hazardous post when a skirmish comes along. Recurrent stomach aches have a way of cleaning up if the patient knows he will be under gunfire every time he has one. Some also are so physically sick that they are not fit for duty at all and might as well be sent home at once. But the point is that the duties of the medical officer are not all simple and do not entirely consist of handing out sulfa drugs and doing operations.

First National Bank Has 10 Millions In Resources

For the first time in the history of Salem, resources of a local bank have passed the ten million dollar mark.

This is the record established by the First National bank, which, in its report to the comptroller of currency, shows resources of $10,572,356.85. It shows a gain of about 100 per cent in the last two years, assets in 1941 having been five and a half million.

While the report indicates the war-time surge of employment in Salem factories, President L. H. Colley said today that it also reflects the purchase of War Bonds in the recent drive, as the bank carries a substantial War Loan deposit on which the government draws as it requires funds.

Nearly a billion acres of land in the U. S. could be used for crops, compared with 400 million acres tilled.

The Crimson Thread

by LILIAN LAUFERTY

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

He don't know yet whether the iron fits the wound in his back exactly or if the blood on it is red. Roney Hodges pulled his ear lobe frantically. He had a crack on the chin too. He his lip. Still and all, it could carbon monoxide that killed him.

"That's possible," Jack said. "I didn't like the way the Evans girl spoke the dead man. Maybe she has a few lies for reasons of her own. She needs investigating too. I'll have to go a bit slow on this."

"Maybe so," Chief Calvin said. "Looks like an open-and-shut case, but there are a few things that don't check. The one that's got me buffed is that light in Everard's study at one A. M. Was it on when you came over this morning, Jack?"

"I didn't notice. I had other things on my mind and the light didn't show up much in daylight. I don't know it's on yet."

"Go check on that, Roney," the chief said.

Hodges ambled away and the chief began to talk to Jack in a low voice: "Everard's watch indicates he was killed around 6:15. It couldn't have been 6:15 A. M. He was still when I saw him. And it wasn't after 6:45 in the evening when the Evans girl is lying. Well, I'll have to check on when he was last seen alive. And there's enough to show the blow that smashed Everard's wrist and watch is what stopped it at 6:15. That brings us back where we started: a man's hammer to death—presumably with his own waffle iron in his own garage. It don't look good, does it, Jack?"

"Not too good."

The chief continued: "This looks worse. We know Mrs. Everard didn't leave the house for Beach Cottage and the Drury shindig till close to seven. So if she turned out that light on her husband's desk when she came home last night, all that stuff about her figuring he was at work is exed out."

"That makes sense," Jack agreed. "I'll clinch our case," the chief declared.

"Well, I wouldn't go that far—" Roney bounced back into the room then. "The light's still on. We better have McKay take the finer points in that study."

"Right," said Chief Calvin. Roney ambled off again.

I wondered whether the light in Pete's study had actually been on the night before. Or had Jack turned it on while I was in Nancy's room and he was presumably waiting for me in the upstairs hall? Was the story that sounded so casual something he had built up to match the evidence he had created?

"There goes a nice theory," Chief Calvin said. "So we'll have to find a new angle. Well, Miss Glenn, there are a couple of things I'd like to check over with you now."

So he turned to me with a quiet courtesy I never saw him lose and never learned to cope with. "Miss Glenn, it looks as if you were right; maybe authors are so temperamental that that Mrs. Everard didn't dare disturb her husband last night. So if she really thought he was working, she had no way of knowing what time he quit, had she?"

"No; not that I know of."

"Then he might have worked till dawn for all she knew."

"He might."

"So why would she expect him to be up and out in the garden at 8 A. M.?"

"I don't know," I fumbled. "Why do you ask me?"

"Why did she go out there at 8 A. M. to look for her husband? Didn't she know what she'd find?"

It was almost as if she had heard Nancy saying to Jack and me: "I know what you'll find in the garage."

"Come now, Lex, Miss Glenn's opinion's no better than yours or mine. You're asking her what she thinks, not what she knows," Jack said with his laziest drawl.

The chief frowned. "Just the same I'd like to hear what Miss Glenn's got to say. Informally and as among friends, Miss Glenn. You're not under oath; you're just helping us cast around for a lead."

"Well, maybe Nancy was on her way to a business appointment at eight this morning," I said. "Probably she wanted to borrow her husband's car, since her own was out of commission. If it's my opinion you want, I'm sure she didn't go out to the garage to look for anyone."

"And if you want my opinion," Chief Calvin declared, "she went to look for that waffle iron before anybody else found it. Now we'll stop bothering you with questions, Miss Glenn, and let Sergeant O'Toole escort you home. I'm going upstairs to ask Mrs. Everard a few things we need to know. Coming, Jack?"

I was sure Drummond would say no. I thought he might even ask the chief to let Nancy rest for a while longer. Instead he said: "Let's go. I'd like Roney there, too. It's time you both got a line on Mrs. Everard."

When one has to turn out five radio scripts a week, work goes on even when there's been a murder done in the house next door. So, in spite of the horror that had invaded our little section of Havenhurst, I had to spend most of Monday writing lines for Pam Drury and Harvey Prentice to broadcast over Station WKTB.

County Detective Hodges and Sergeant O'Toole were in and out of Glennacres pretty regularly all day. I took refuge in the summer-house, behind the thicket of rhododendrons that had been my father's pride, and I worked frantically and thankfully because Love's Wages took my mind off things I was afraid to contemplate.

While I was writing dialogue of my own I didn't have to listen to the record my mind kept playing over and over again, the record of what I had heard Greg snarl at Pete on Saturday night. "I've had all I'm going to take. All and more. That's final. You've been warned. Don't say I didn't give you a chance."

By five o'clock I had a headache and two scripts to show for my day's work. I was starting wearily to edit the second script when Jack Drummond came through the little apple orchard back of the summer house.

"Nice and cool here," he said. "Get any work done?"

"I'm finishing my second script—" "Better knock off and talk to me, Hilda. I got some work done too. I may interest you to know I've been to New York and back since Sergeant O'Toole escorted you home at 9:30 this morning—"

"And made an invasion on my household there. I camped out here to get away from the boom of the O'Toole voice. Jack, what were you doing in New York?"

"I invaded your radio studio."

"Not until after the broadcast, I hope," I tried to sound casual but Jack's answer made me certain he knew how concerned I was.

"I took Pam Drury and the Jackson girl, Richards and Prentice to lunch. I thought it wise to see the state's witnesses before you had a chance to (permit me to say?) suborn them."

"Why should I want to induce anyone to commit perjury?"

"You phoned Greg at ten this morning," Jack stated. "Greg's over at Nancy's now. He came out at four. I've something else to discuss with you: Sergeant O'Toole wasn't satisfied with what he got from your houseboy this morning. They've taken Wing down to Chief Calvin's office for a going over."

"I didn't know. I was deep in scripts. Poor Wing! I must go to police headquarters. Will you drive me down?"

"No Hilda. I can't do that right now."

"But they're probably scaring Wing to death. He didn't kill Pete. He was at Pam Drury's when it happened. If they give Wing the third degree his English will turn into chop suey."

"I'm afraid it has done that already. They had to put on the heat, Hilda. They may hold him as a material witness."

I protested in the only way I felt sure would affect Drummond. "Jack, don't let them hold that poor boy. He hasn't done anything. And I'm afraid he'll involve Nancy."

"Why?" he snapped.

"Wing worked for Nancy and Pete. He'd know if they'd come to hate each other."

Jack lit a cigarette. It put a smoke screen between us. I hardly recognized the curt voice in which he said: "Hilda, it's our job to get at facts. Your Wing and Pam Drury's Toya check on one thing though. It's the time of Greg's arrival at the Drury party. He didn't get there till around six-forty-five. Pam bears them out."

I ignored the reference to Pam. "Jack, you know Wing isn't reliable. He said he was poisoned Saturday night. He led for fear I'd be furious at him for getting too drunk. How can you believe his story?"

"Perhaps he wasn't lying."

"But why should anyone try to poison Wing?"

We stared at each other then, afraid of the truth. And neither of us dreamed how very near we had come to it.

Then Jack said: "Hilda, I learned at my luncheon today that you phoned the Everard house at exactly six last night. Miss Drury and the Jackson girl agree as to the time."

"I don't clock my days," I said. I borrowed the line from one of my own scripts. It seemed to fit the occasion perfectly but Jack ignored it.

"Well, did you phone the Everard house at approximately six last night?"

"Yes," I said.

"You talked to Greg, didn't you?"

"He had left the house. He was one his way to Pam's—"

"It doesn't take three quarters of an hour from the Everard house to Beach Cottage."

"It doesn't take a minute when you're driving. But Ada, Crick and Harvey had Greg's car. So he had to walk. And he stumbled over the rock Dennis Riorden and I dislodged from the Knowlton fence when we swerved to avoid you. Greg had to limp the rest of the way on a bruised ankle."

Jack Drummond gave me his best professional prosecutor's smile. "Very good, Hilda. Better memorize it. You may have to repeat it to the coroner. And I may be cross-examining when you tell it to the judge later on. I'll recall every word you said just as you said it. But a lot of this is hearsay evidence. You didn't see Greg stumble over that stone—"

"Wait a minute!" I protested. "Why were you driving sixty miles an hour when you passed us? Way all the rush? You didn't get to the party till seven! Where were you from a little before half past five to seven, State's Attorney Drummond?"

Jack's eyes avoided mine for a second. Then he returned to the attack.

"You spoke to Greg at six o'clock on Sunday when you phoned the Everard house. Richards and Prentice dropped Greg there at about quarter to six. You talked to Greg, Hilda—"

I could draw too. "Now, Jack, how do you know I didn't talk to Pete?"

"You told Greg that Pam Drury wanted a waffle iron, didn't you?" So Pam had betrayed Greg.

Jack actually pounced then. "You'd lie your head off to save Greg Mason, but you're not helping his sister, Nancy, very much."

"I don't think either needs my help," I said evenly. "Greg wasn't at the Everard's at six. So he couldn't have killed Pete at quarter-past six. And Nancy would never have bashed Pete over the head with a waffle iron. She'd have poisoned him long ago if she wanted to get rid of him."

Truck Route Extensions Are Ruled Out by ODT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The Office of Defense Transportation describing the truck transport situation as increasingly critical, today prohibited extension of present routes and delivery areas and banned inauguration of any new truck operations without prior ODT approval.

The action, affecting all operators performing over-the-road local cartage and pick-up-and-delivery, is effective immediately.

Just Lonesome

NOWATA, Okla.—Having concluded their puppy whimper at night because he was lonesome, Marjean and Maxine Gridland set their minds to work on a solution.

The idea seemed a little silly at first, they admit, but when they placed a ticking alarm clock in the pet's basket he slept soundlessly through the night. Experimenting, they left off the clock. The whimpering was resumed.

Sun spots are thought to be composed of whirling gases.

Theatre

Betty Grable is seen as the toast of London who, as she is about to win her Duke, is exposed by Robert Young, a police reporter, as an ex-Brooklyn entertainer. How she gets even makes for top-notch entertainment. Also starred in the technical musical are Reginald Gardner and Adolph Menjou.

A prison break and an epidemic in a children's ward provide the plots for the action in "Dr. Gillespie's Criminal Case," billed at the State Wednesday only.

Irving Berlin makes his screen debut in "This Is the Army," singing his famed lament, "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning." Included in the cast is 350 United States soldiers recruited from most every army post in the country. Also featured is Joan Leslie and Lieut. Ronald Reagan. The film will show at the State Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

MANPOWER

you can help by saving Natural Gas!

Seven vital industries—gas, oil, coal, transportation, communications, electric power and water—have been asked to bend every effort to win the war quickly by conserving fuels, manpower and materials. The Natural Gas industry here gladly complies with this conservation move, having urged gas conservation on its customers shortly after Pearl Harbor.

Now's the time when increased war production counts most—when we should push our war advantage to the utmost by providing the supplies and equipment to land the "knock-out punch."

Into the making of this fighting equipment goes a tremendous amount of Natural Gas.

So—let's finish the job—quick. This coming winter will be a test of industry's ability to equip our men for victory. You, by saving Natural Gas, can certainly do your part.

BACK THE ATTACK—BUY WAR BONDS

Here's how to conserve natural gas in your home:

- ✓ Winter-condition your home through insulation, storm sash, weatherstripping and caulking.
- ✓ Set thermostat properly to avoid excessive room temperatures.
- ✓ Reduce the use of Gas to supplement other fuels for heating on cold days.
- ✓ Discontinue the use of your kitchen range for heating on cold days.
- ✓ Close off heat in rooms you do not use, close bedroom doors at night if windows are open, see that fireplace dampers are used.
- ✓ Check your heating plant, replace or clean filters before starting up furnace in fall, insulate your water heater.
- ✓ Learn to cook with low flame in small amounts of water, to save vitamins and Gas.

Industrial and commercial users will find their gas company willing and helpful in working out conservation measures.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Critics of the Connally post-war policy resolution sought today to pin down strong interpretations of the language as a guide to the President in peace negotiations.

This appeared to be the strategy of the bloc of at least 13 senators facing overwhelming opposition to attempts at writing into the resolution a demand for use of military force against aggressors.

Senator Hatch (D., N. M.) told reporters he believed the group had made progress in narrowing the interpretations that might be placed on a portion of the resolution providing:

"That the United States, acting through its constitutional processes, join with free and sovereign nations in the establishment and maintenance of international authority with power to prevent aggression and to preserve the peace of the world."

Hatch said he regarded that statement as a "blank check" under which the President could "go ahead and make almost any kind of an agreement." He added, however, such action lacking the senate's final signature—treaty ratification—ran a risk of repudiation.

Senator Ball (R., Minn.) put the aim of the group into words with an assertion that the resolution "can have value only if it is debated fully enough so that it will furnish a reliable guide to the executive as to the present convictions of the senate."

SALES LEVY AGAIN

The hue and cry for a federal retail sales tax as a means of raising needed war revenue is heard again, this time from Rep. Gearhart (R., Calif.), who has urged its passage before. Urging a 10 per cent levy, Gearhart says it is the only way left open to obtain the war monies.

POLL TAX BAN

Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) suggests that the poll tax be eliminated by constitutional amendment. He says it is the "one and only prospect" of outlawing the voting tax still clung to by eight states. Objections to poll tax abolition, O'Mahoney insists, are due to efforts to abolish it by law rather than by amendment.

BUTTER VS. MARGARINE

A new battle within the farm bloc was forecast today by Rep. Andersen (R., Minn.) over the taxes and various restrictions on margarine. Chairman Fulmer (D., S. C.) has introduced a bill to lift the levies, among them a 10 cents-a-pound tax on "colored" margarine. Andersen protests that a "true" was entered into under which such a measure would not be brought up during the war because of the opposition of dairy farmers.

OPEN DRIVE HERE TO ENLIST WACS

A national recruiting drive to enlist 3,675 women to serve with the WACS is now under way with Mrs. B. Anthony Weina as chairman for the local campaign.

Women who enlist during the progress of the current drive will be grouped together in individual WAC companies or units. Each state contingent will receive basic training together, and then will be sent to a school for further training or be assigned to some post for duty. The first contingent of WACS recruited during the present drive has left for training at Daytona Beach, Fla., and the second company will leave for a training camp early in November.

Women 20 to 30, citizens of the United States with no dependents and no children under 14 are eligible for enlistment.

Application blanks and full information about the corps may be obtained at the Grove Electric Co. from 2 to 4 p. m. from Oct. 25 to Dec. 7.

ing that the Germans have already mined Lwow in southeastern Poland, ready to blow it to ruins in the event of a Russian break-through on the White Russian front.

It was Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's third Ukrainian army which stormed Dnepropetrovsk to topple that great economic and military center. He was supported on his right flank by Gen. Ivan S. Konovalov's Second Ukrainian army group, while the Fourth Ukrainian army, which captured Melitopol Saturday, backed him up on the left flank.

The first Ukrainian army operating further to the north was believed plunging westward below Kremenchuk toward Znamenka. Russian columns were battering at the gates of Krivoriog, 85 miles southwest of Dnepropetrovsk, where front dispatches said the 23rd German tank division had been trapped, and spearheads of the fourth army were racing through Melitopol toward the Crimea, shattering an enemy defense line based on the Melitopol-Crimea railway enroute.

The Red air force, masters of the Ukrainian skies, were blasting the disorganized Nazis over the entire front.

Fliers' Eye Test Eliminates Those With Twin Vision

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor
CINCINNATI, Oct. 26.—A new eye test to insure greater safety for pilots was reported to the Aero Medical Association of the United States today by Dr. A. J. Herbolzheimer of the Civil Aeronautics administration.

The test uses four spots of light in a novel way to catch the fault of double vision in pilot candidates for civil or military flying. Double vision is the same affliction, sober, that a person has with too many drinks.

Some smart boys learn the usual tests so well that even with double vision they have been able to fool the examining physician. Others have normal vision when fresh, but begin to see double with a little fatigue. Both conditions have been hard to catch, and both can be very dangerous.

The four spots of light appear in total darkness. They are about the size of a cat's eyes. One, two, three or four can be shown, their positions at the corners of an imaginary rectangle. Each spot can be either red or white.

Eyes with double vision will see more than the right number of spots. When a red glass is placed before one eye, the trouble becomes worse for the double vision, and especially more difficult for the fellow on the border line. But the boys can learn to call these spots and deceive the physician.

Dr. Herbolzheimer adds another glass, in addition to the red one. The second—a prism—causes even normal eyes to see double. Two spots become four, and four spots look like eight. Also, the new apparatus enables the examining physician to change number, position or color of spots at will, in any unexpected way he may choose.

The double vision boys don't know when one is two, or two should be called as one, for they never see, in the darkness, whether they are wearing a double vision lens.

Normal eyes see the same kaleidoscope, but have no trouble in calling the numbers and locations.

Unemployment Payments To Ohioans Show Drop

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—Unemployment compensation payments to Oct. 1 dropped almost $12,000,000 under the same date one year ago to a low of $1,332,466, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation announced.

For the nine-month January-September period, jobless benefits last year totaled $13,291,484.54.

The report reflected increased industrial employment in Ohio metropolitan areas. The state's eight large offices paid out only $586,654 compared with $745,742 by the small offices. A year ago the large offices paid out $7,933,270 compared with $5,358,213 for the smaller ones.

Highest compensation payments were made in the Cincinnati area, $225,598; Cleveland was second with $112,972.79.

north of the battle area on the east and west coasts.

Tarquinia, airdrome northwest of Rome also was hit. Two Allied planes were lost in all operations.

Fly On to Britain

Berlin's announcement that Allied heavy bombers which struck into Austria Sunday had come from Italian bases and then shuttled on to Britain was a new indication of Germany's concern over bombing of the eastern Reich from Italy.

But Allied headquarters simply let the Nazis worry as to whether the bombers had come from Foggia or North Africa, or whether they went on to Britain or returned here.

The American drive also took in San Angelo, Dalila, four miles northwest of Albi, and the British war firm possession of Busso, two miles north of Baranello.

The German retirement to the shortest and best defensive line between Naples and Rome, and reports that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was bringing in more troops to northern Italy were accepted here as certain signs that the Nazis are determined to hold Rome at least through the winter, and possibly intend even to launch a counter-offensive.

DON'T BLAME ARMY IF GOBBLERS SCARE

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 26.—If turkeys are scarce in civilian markets the holiday season, don't blame it on the Army, the Quartermaster corps depot here said today.

Army buyers said turkey requirements for the armed forces amounted to about eight per cent of the total supply, leaving 92 per cent of the 1943 crop for civilians.

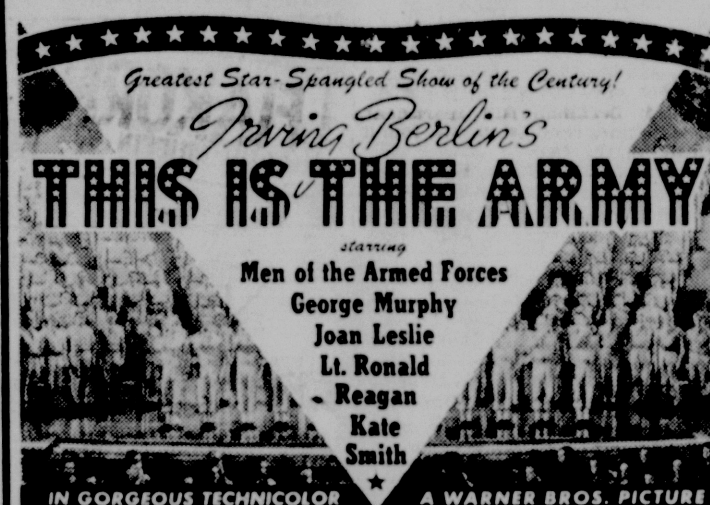

The army bought only eight per cent of the crop, but that amounted to 23,000,000 pounds, and it will go to the Navy, Marine corps and Coast guard as well as the Army. Of that mountain of turkey, 12,000,000 pounds will go overseas.

With the turkey on Thanksgiving and Christmas will be served fruit, corn, dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, corn, peas, tomato salad, assorted pickles, stuffed celery and bread and butter, topped off with pumpkin pie, apples, grapes, coffee and nuts and candy.

16 Ohio High School Grid Teams Make It Six Straight

Salem Among The Unbeaten Teams; Interest Focuses On Suit Against Galion Coach

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—There was plenty of High school football in Ohio last week, but the games took a back seat to a court case in which a griddle sued his coach for the privilege of playing.

The youth is 17-year-old Ralph Stoner of Galion, a star the last two years but banished from the 1943 team by Coach James L. Lymer, who said he ousted the player for missing spring practice. The youth and his father sued the coach for $25,000, declaring the coach's action had upset the player's plans for a scholarship at several colleges.

The Galion school board voted to hire counsel to defend the coach, the Ohio High School Football Coaches association (500 strong) threw its "support and sympathy" to Lymer, and State Commissioner H. R. Townsend said he "wasn't going to sit back and see anything happen that might force a coach to use a boy he doesn't care to use, if I can help it."

While all that was going on, at least nine schools met defeat for the first time, while 16 rolled on to their sixth consecutive victories of the year and several others made it five in a row.

Crowded out of the clean class were Coldwater (0, Rockford 19); Celina (0, Bellefontaine 14); Marion (0, Findlay 6); Dayton Fairmont (6, Wilbur Wright 19); Hamilton (0, Springfield 19); Ashland (0, Wadsworth 27); Cincinnati Walnut Hills (0, Western Hills 12); Toledo Whitmer (6, Perrysburg 12); and Rittman (7, Loudonville 13).

Cleveland Lincoln, unbeaten in 26 starts, trounced Cleveland West 13-0 for its sixth of the year; Olmsted Falls made it 21 straight by tipping over Westlake 9-0; Boardman reached 19 without defeat, 27-0 over Columbiana, and Versailles, winner of five this year, made it 13 in a row with a 9-6 win over West Carrollton.

In "Six Won" Class

Others in the "six won" class, and the scores by which they did it, are: Lorain (7, Lakewood 6); Massillon (33, Mansfield 0); Salem (13, Struthers 12); Borena (27, Fairview 6); Van Wert (21, Wapakoneta 0); Newark (70, Marietta 6); Uhrichsville (19, Dennison 0); Canton St. Johns (20, Newcomerstown 12); Toledo Waite (20, Toledo Libbey 0); Bexley (19, Delaware 0); Norton (33, Stow 0); Navarre (47, Millersburg 2); Brookfield (27, Sharon, Pa., 4); Middlebranch (12, Jackson Township 0).

Fredericktown won its fourth and fifth of the season in the single week, running its streak to 17 games, by upsetting Mt. Vernon 45 to 6 Monday and then coming back Friday for a 27-0 win over Belleville. Olie Cline, 200-pound fullback of the Freds, added 29 points to his scoring record with four touchdowns and five placements, giving him 85 for the season and 303 for two and one-half seasons.

Hartford High of Croton probably put the state's smallest griddle on display in the 42-0 loss to Granville, 65-pound Gilbert Duncan getting in for five minutes at end and producing a couple of neat tackles. Rittman, which suffered its first loss last week, has a volunteer coach, and Upper Sandusky beat Tiffin Calvert 19 to 0 to keep its home goal line unsullied in four starts.

Bell Stiegel, 165-pound Johnston halfback came up with a seven-touchdown spurge against Croton, in the Licking county league.

"Curly" Bratton of Lima South hit the headlines by scoring all four touchdowns as his team beat Fremont St. Joe 25-12.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Chalk up another score for Deacon Branch Rickey. Plenty of baseball club presidents have tried to take the sting out of a disappointing season by firing the manager, but the Branch that grows in Brooklyn is the first one to figure out how to fire the manager and still keep him. Rickey gave Leo Durocher the heave-ho as player-manager just before the Bums slugged home at the end of the season, and a month later took him back without the "player" tag that probably proves that Rickey prefers a manager who generally is in hot water to one who might never get hot.

Hank Wolfe, Richmond (Va.) News-Leader: "Don't tell me that schoolboy footballers aren't war-conscious. We badly needed a local prep game with full force recently because it matched two undefeated teams. One player, after scanning a few wirephotos, muttered: 'All that stuff is just propaganda for the opposition.'"

Argentine newspapers devoted a lot of space to the 25th anniversary of the famous Dempsey-Firpo heavyweight fight, asking: "Is the championship going to remain forever in the United States?"

Ott Heller, who has played alongside 12 different defenses in 13 seasons of big-league hockey with the Rangers: "Ching Johnson would take the man and he'd say: 'You just pick up the puck, kid, when I get finished with the guy coming in.' That's the way I've liked to play defense ever since."

Win Hockey Exhibition

TOLEDO, Oct. 26.—The Stanley cup championship Detroit Red Wings gained an 8-5 victory over the Indianapolis Capitals here last night in an exhibition hockey game before 3,000 in the Toledo icehouse arena.

"Bishop" Hat Check Girl

Delaware, O.—With a shortage of manpower on the campus at Ohio Wesleyan university, Coed Merlyn Clifford, in a moment of fun, offered her services as hat check girl for the Battling Bishop football squad. Judging from this photo the reaction was more than favorable.

BARONS AND HORNETS CLASH IN BENEFIT

Kent U. Sports Schedule

CLEVELAND, Oct. 26.—The Cleveland Barons and Pittsburgh Hornets open the American hockey league season tonight by playing a War benefit game. Of the receipts, $1,000 will go to the Dieppe Relief fund of Windsor, Ont., and the balance to the Cleveland Stage Door Canteen.

Succeeding his brother bill, now barons general manager, bun cook mates his debut as pilot of the Cleveland team, Larry Aurie again will be at the hornets' helm.

The two teams meet again in Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

HARRY ALBRIGHT, EXCLUSIVE AGENT FOR THE ABOVE PROPERTIES Dial 3227

THIS NEWLY-LISTED MODERN HOME IS OFFERED AT A PRICE YOU CAN AFFORD TO PAY!

Very good six-room house located on Franklin Avenue in desirable neighborhood. Nicely planned, has three extra nice bedrooms and two baths on second floor, open stairway, large living room with fireplace, dining room and kitchen on first floor. Hardwood floors downstairs. Very good cemented basement under entire house with laundry. The kitchen has the latest cupboards, work front has chromium top, small enclosed back porch. Fine large front porch. Nice attic which is floored and plastered and would make a nice recreation room or bed room. Hot air furnace, garage and nice lot with shade and fruit trees.

Now, if you want a nice home and one that you will never get tired of, one that is easy to heat, this is the home you should buy. This is a very lovely, comfortable home and priced at only $7,500. Now, you must arrange an appointment in advance to see this house as we must notify the tenant before showing the house. If you are interested in a proposition of this kind, get in touch with me at once as possession can be given of this property in a short time and at this price, it will soon be in the hands of a new owner.

HERE ARE TWO REAL BARGAINS IN SMALL FARMS!

Forty-two acres of extra good bottom land located about five miles south of Salem and about one mile from Franklin Square. This farm is an extra good crop producer. This year it made 33 loads of hay and the owner raised a good corn crop as can be raised in our section. This year was a good test for this farm as frost was early and this was creek bottom land. The owner has lived on this farm about 38 years but is forced to sell it on account of his age and the fact that his health is failing. It is improved with a good six-room house under slate roof, electricity and water in house. Good bank barn equipped with stanchions for eight cows. Barn has slate roof and water inside. Other necessary out-buildings. These buildings are in good shape and would cost at least $7,000 to put them there. We are offering this farm for quick action at the low price of $5,000, which is no more than the price of a cheap city home.

Another 19-acre farm located near Franklin Square. This land is in a high state of cultivation and lays as level as a table top. It is improved with a good six-room house with furnace and inside toilet. Good small barn, large chicken house and other necessary outbuildings. Electricity is not in but goes past the door. Just think of this, I am offering you this land with these buildings at the very low price of $3,000.

Now, if you are in the market for a farm, get in touch with me at once, as these two farms are dirt cheap and will soon be in the hands of new owners. For more particulars, see

DEATHS

MRS. SARA LAPP

MIDDLETON, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Sara Lapp, 74, widow of Mahan C. Lapp, died suddenly of a heart attack at 8 p. m. Monday at the home of her brother, Daniel F. Lapp, R. D. 7, Middleton.

Mrs. Lapp, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lapp, was born at Clarence Center, N. Y., July 9, 1869. Married in 1890, she and her husband traveled to India as Mennonite missionaries, where Mr. Lapp died in 1923. Mrs. Lapp returned to the United States in 1942 and made her home with her brother, Daniel.

She was a graduate of Elkhart college institute, Elkhart, Indiana. Surviving are two brothers, Daniel and Emanuel D. Lapp of Denbigh, Va.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday, in charge of Rev. H. J. Steiner, at the Midway Mennonite church, with burial in the church cemetery.

Friends may call after Wednesday morning at the home.

ELWOOD CONRAD

Elwood Conrad, 54, a former Salem resident, a minister of the Society of Friends, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Eunice Richardson, in Santa Paula, Calif.

He was born Jan. 25, 1860, in New Jersey. He served as minister in Salem, N. J., before coming to this vicinity. He and his wife left Salem 10 years ago to make their home with their daughter.

Surviving are his wife, Phoebe Dean Conrad; three daughters, Mrs. Richardson, at whose home he died, Mrs. Rebecca Dickey, Pomona, Calif., and Mrs. Mary Cleaver of South Berry, N. C.; two sons, Dr. J. V. Conrad of McKeesport, Pa., and Emerson Conrad on the Damascus rd.; eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at 2

p. m. Thursday at the Friends meeting house in Pasadena, Calif.

William E. Davis, 75, died of a heart attack at 10:15 a. m. today at his home, 325 S. Madison ave. The son of Isabelle and Charles Davis, he was born in Washingtonville Jan. 6, 1868, and was married to Tillie Roessler Nov. 17, 1887, in Salem. He had lived here for 30 years, coming from Youngstown. He was employed as a machinist at the Mullins plant prior to his retirement a few years ago.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Alfred Doxon, Hamilton, Canada; two sons, Earl H. of Youngstown and Wilmer O. of Salem; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

FATHER DRAFT

single men with collateral dependents, married men without children and married men with children.

It does not prohibit the granting of deferments to men without children, nor does it make any distinction between children born before Pearl Harbor and those born since then.

By providing for induction on a nation-wide basis, it does away, in effect, with the old system under which quotas were filled on a local board basis. Under that system, it was possible for fathers in one county to be inducted before all eligible single men had been drafted in an adjoining county.

A bundle of floor amendments was in the offing but May predicted defeat for all of them, describing the bill as "the best solution available under the circumstances."

Offers Amendment

Representative Luce (R., Conn.) drafted an amendment designed to "switch almost all deferred I-A men out of industry and agriculture into the armed forces and to replace them with men now classified as 4-F. These 4-Fs would be inducted into the service maintenance corps at service pay."

The effect of the proposal, which the Connecticut woman legislator said she may withhold and offer later as separate legislation, would be to postpone induction of fathers. By being treated as separate legislation, the Luce measure would be eligible for public hearings before the military committee, of which she is a member. If offered as an amendment to the pending bill, it would be debated only briefly on the house floor.

Girl Scouts Will Stage Party On Friday Night

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Ralph G. Wright, chairman of the Girl Scout national executive committee, declared today "War leaves a tremendous tax on childhood. We, as a youth-serving organization, must see to it that at the end of this holocaust our childhood is solvent. The character of our youth must not be made to pay the cost of the war."

In an address prepared for the Girl Scout National council's three-day biennial meeting's open session, Mrs. Wright described war-time juvenile delinquency as "grave," but added: "It does not mean that the nature of childhood has changed for the worse, but that children are feeling the cost of the war."

Girl Scouts, she said, "hope to reduce the cost to children incurred by the loss of home care and attention" brought about by parents working in war production.

Quiz Husband In Slaying of New York Heiress

Authorities in Toronto have detained Wayne Loneragan, 26-year-old RCAF air cadet, for questioning in the murder of his wife, Mrs. Patricia Burton Loneragan, heiress to a $4,000,000 beer fortune. The heiress was found bludgeoned to death in her apartment. When Loneragan was arrested, wearing civilian clothes, his face was smeared with cuts and scratches. The two were married two years ago but have been estranged for some time. Authorities in New York arrested Mario Gabbeline, a New York interior decorator, as a material witness. He had accompanied Mrs. Loneragan on a tour of night spots a few hours before she was killed. The pictures show Gabbeline, left, pointing with outstretched arm, and Loneragan and wife. workers of whom only 61—all postal inspectors—have been deferred.

In all other governmental agencies, 13,992 men have been granted occupational deferments.

The total occupational deferment figure is 98,053.

In addition, there are 2,003 uniformed personnel in the War Shipping administration's training organization and 14,050 cadets in the training organization schools, who have been deferred, but the President said these men are not "really part of the civilian establishment of the government."

Mr. Roosevelt asserted draft-age men in the War and Navy departments are being "released constantly" for military service and are being replaced in accordance with replacement schedules.

Some Reports Not In

Outside the War, Navy and Post-office departments, Mr. Roosevelt said, about 119,380 employees are men of draft age—exclusive of those in several small agencies which did not submit reports. Of these, he said, 25,537 are single, 26,195 are childless married men, and 67,647 are fathers.

Of the single men, he said, 3,592 were awaiting induction as of Aug. 15, 11,667 were classified as physically unfit for military service and 1,502 had been deferred for dependency or hardship reasons. No information was available on 2,743, and 6,043 had been given occupational deferments.

The first horse-drawn street cars in New York City appeared in 1832.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

German army might crack? It has been magnificent, so far as has been reported. The great and protracted Nazi retreat to the Dnieper without a collapse was one of the outstanding achievements of the war, because a retreat is one of the most difficult of military operations. That called for fool-proof morale on the part of the Hitlerite troops.

We have said the war is in this stage where anything can happen. That cuts two ways. One of the things might be the development of unexpected resistance on the part of the Nazis. There's no reason to believe that anything will occur to give Hitler a chance to win the war, but he might get a break which would enable him to stand off defeat for a considerable period.

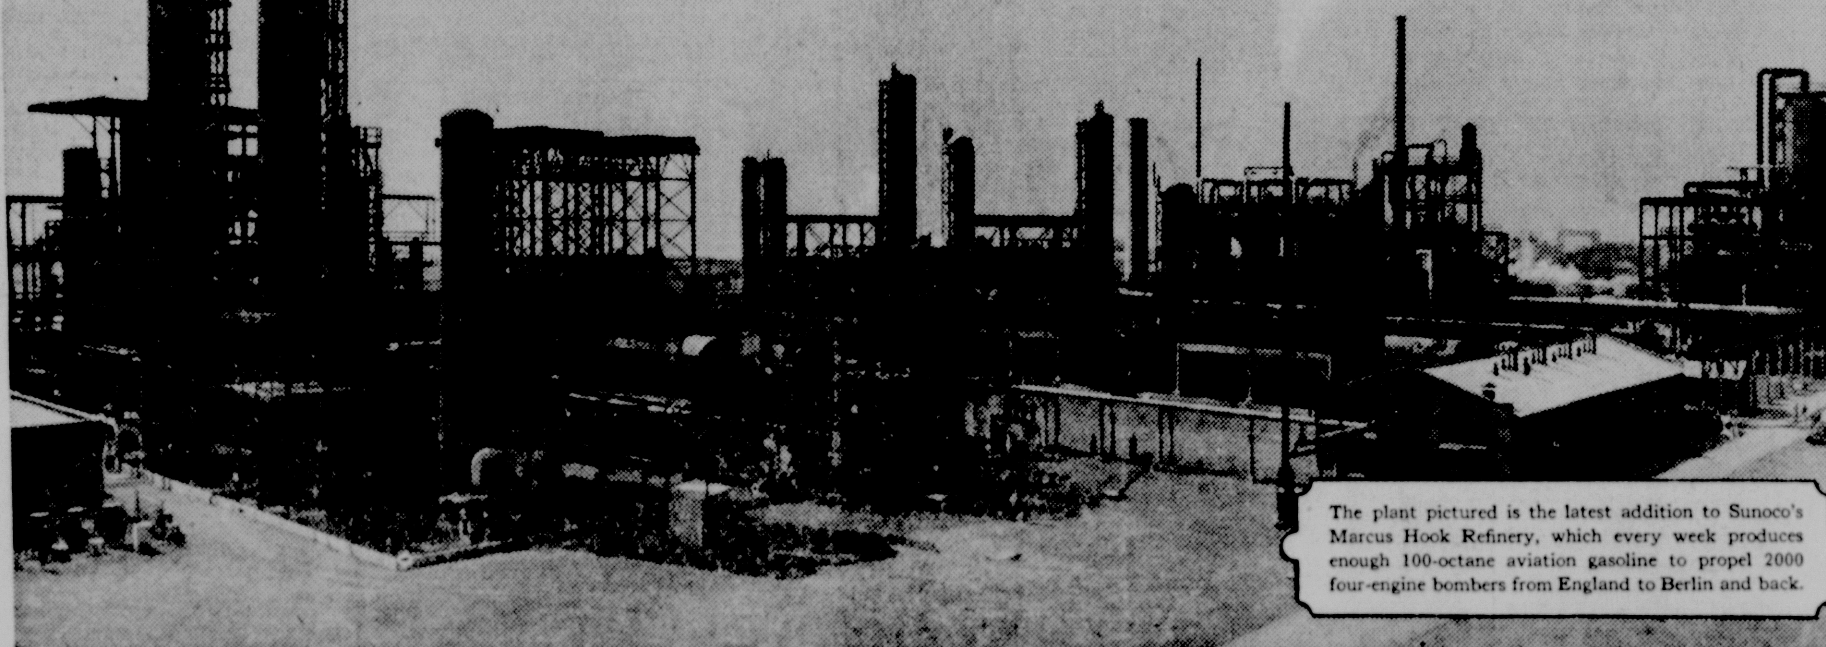

While we're doing all this waiting, we must stop and ask ourselves why it is that Hitler is in such a precarious position. The answer is vital to victory. It is that we not only have grand fighting forces battling for us, but that the home fronts in America and Britain have by a supreme effort produced the war materials with which the Nazi gangster has been driven into a corner.

Unrelenting pressure by that combination—the fighting forces and the home-front—has turned the trick. By the same token, if we relax the pressure we give Hitler a fresh lease of life.

It's all right to wish for a collapse of the enemy, and pray for a collapse—so long as we work like the devil at the same time.

SUN'S NEWEST AVIATION FUEL PLANT

DEDICATED TOMORROW

The plant pictured is the latest addition to Sunoco's Marcus Hook Refinery, which every week produces enough 100-octane aviation gasoline to propel 2000 four-engine bombers from England to Berlin and back.

Adds to Sunoco's position as one of the world's largest producers of aviation fuel!

Tomorrow Sunoco proudly dedicates a huge new aviation gasoline plant, the largest of its type in existence. In this self-contained plant, all petroleum components of aviation gasoline are produced and blended into the finest 100-octane fighting fuel.

The new plant, added to the giant facilities already in operation, makes our Marcus Hook refinery one of the largest producers of 100-octane aviation fuel in the world.

Sun First to Make Catalytic Cracking Commercially Practical

Sunoco's leadership really began long before Pearl Harbor, when the company first made commercially practical a now-famous process of catalytic cracking. No greater contribution has been made to the war effort. For, without the principle of catalytic cracking, Allied aviation fuel requirements could not have been met.

A Triumph of Private Initiative

Sunoco's entire aviation fuel program has been accomplished without government aid or subsidy. Facilities costing more than 36 million dollars are now devoted to war production in the company's Marcus Hook refinery alone. It is only through such free play of private initiative that all American progress has been achieved.

Be with us by radio

This huge new aviation fuel plant will be dedicated in impressive ceremonies which will be broadcast both by C.B.S. and The Blue Network.
